MANHATTAN COLLEGE

Manhattan College seeks a dynamic, innovative, and collaborative leader to assume the position of EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT AND PROVOST. This search follows thirteen years of exemplary leadership by current Executive Vice President and Provost Dr. Weldon Jackson.

Overlooking Van Cortlandt Park in the Riverdale section of New York City, Manhattan College is an independent Catholic institution of higher learning that embraces qualified men and women of all faiths, races, and ethnic backgrounds. Established in 1853, the College is founded upon the Lasallian tradition of excellence in teaching, respect for individual dignity, and commitment to social justice inspired by the innovator of modern pedagogy, John Baptist de La Salle. The mission of Manhattan College is to provide a contemporary, person-centered education characterized by high academic standards, reflection on faith, values, and ethics, and life-long career preparation. This is achieved in two ways: by offering students programs that integrate a broad liberal education with concentration in specific disciplines in the arts and sciences, or with professional preparation in business, education, or engineering; and by nurturing a caring, pluralistic campus community. The College's location in New York City provides a rich and diverse environment for co-curricular programming, service learning, cultural enrichment, and internships.

The Executive Vice President and Provost is the chief academic officer of Manhattan College, reporting directly to the President and serving as a member of the President's Executive Cabinet. The Executive Vice President and Provost leads a multi-functional integrated academic division consisting of five schools, the Graduate Division, and the Division of Continuing Studies. In addition to exercising leadership and oversight of undergraduate, graduate, and continuing education, she/he directs the activities of the O'Malley Library, an Assistant Provost, the Registrar, and the Directors of Assessment, Post Baccalaureate Studies, the Higher Education Opportunity Program, the Information Technology Center, and the Specialized Learning Resources Center. The Executive Vice President and Provost will provide strong leadership and enthusiastic support for strategic planning for academic programs, faculty personnel matters as they relate to hiring, promotion and tenure, budget, accreditation, academic advising, and assessment. She/he will be responsible for promoting Manhattan College's academic reputation by enhancing collaboration among the deans of the five schools—arts, business, education, engineering, and science—and will encourage innovation and creativity within the setting of a Catholic liberal arts college. The successful candidate will have an understanding of the value of diversity in an academic environment and a strong record of success in fostering such diversity. She/he will have a Ph.D. or its equivalent, and a record of accomplishment in teaching, research/creative activity, and professional service sufficient to warrant appointment at the rank of professor. In addition, she/he will have had significant academic leadership experience as a dean or vice president. The successful applicant must embrace the college's Lasallian traditions and represent its academic and support programs effectively to the president, deans, faculty, public, media, alumni/ae, donors, and the Board of Trustees. A complete position profile with additional information about Manhattan College and this search may be found at: www.manhattan.edu or at www.academic-search.com.

Review of applications and nominations will begin October 1, 2009, and will continue until an appointment is made, within the practical limits of the process as finalists are identified. It is expected that the new Executive Vice President and Provost will begin work as soon as possible in 2010, but not later than July 1, 2010. Application materials should include: 1) a letter of interest that addresses specifically how the candidate's experiences and qualifications intersect with the college's mission, strategic priorities, and desired leadership characteristics for the next Executive Vice President and Provost as identified in the position profile; 2) a curriculum vitae; and, 3) the names, addresses, telephone numbers, and email addresses of five references for future contact — please also include your professional relationship with each reference listed.
