BERNARD J. LEE, S.M., PhL., ThD.

Professor of Theology at St. Mary's University in San Antonio, TX

Fr. Bernard Lee is a noted lecturer, author of ten books, co-author of four others and author of multiple articles in scholarly and popular media. The Beating of Great Wings: A Worldly Spirituality for Active, Apostolic Communities. Mystic, Connecticut: Twenty-Third Publications, 2004, is a groundbreaking work that speaks of reinventing religious life while still being faithful to the founder's spiritual goals. It is guaranteed to provoke thoughtful discussion. Also of interest will be his current research on the contemporary U.S. Catholic church and his efforts to design and implement outreach programs for young adults in the U.S.A using a similar model to the successful gatherings in Taize, France. Fr. Bernard holds graduate degrees in Greek and Latin from the Catholic University of America, Washington, DC, Contemporary Philosophy from Universite de Fribourg, Switzerland, and Philosophical and Systematic Theology from the Graduate Theological Union, University of California, Berkeley.
